COPLAND HOUSE & I CARE IF YOU LISTEN
TO PRESENT CULTIVATED SPACES
New Media Partnership Offers 6-Program Virtual Series Beginning March 16,
Featuring Premieres by Emerging Composer Fellows

Cortlandt Manor, NY, March 8, 2021 – Copland House announces the debut of a new six-program virtual series called Cultivated Spaces. Featuring the World Premieres of all the new works Copland House commissioned for its CULTIVATE 2020 emerging composers institute, the series begins on March 16, and runs for consecutive Tuesdays at 5:00pm (Eastern Time) through April 20.

“With COVID preventing CULTIVATE’s concluding public concerts premiering these new works from taking place last year,” explained Copland House’s Artistic and Executive Director Michael Boriskin, “Cultivated Spaces is our launch-pad for these amazing creations. And we are so excited that I CARE IF YOU LISTEN, powered by the American Composers Forum, will serve as the exclusive Media Partner in this important initiative.”

Each Cultivated Spaces livestream spotlights one of CULTIVATE’s six 2020 Fellows and their work in a complete performance by the Music from Copland House ensemble, “one of the leading champions of contemporary music” (Louisville Weekly). Each program begins with a brief introduction by the featured composer, who returns for a lively post-performance conversation with CULTIVATE’s Director, Grammy-nominated composer-clarinetist Derek Bermel. The free, 25- to 30-minute programs, were filmed at Merkin Hall in Manhattan; they are accessible at ICareIfYouListen.tv, and are scheduled as follows:

March 16: Machine Learning by Will Healy
March 23: Bloodlines by Shuying Li
March 30: to be alone with you by Baldwin Giang
April 6: new cosmologies by inti figgis-vizueta
April 13: Slow Cancellation by Sunbin Kim
April 20: Between the Lines by Scott Lee
"In our effort to expand the multimedia offerings on I CARE IF YOU LISTEN," said Editor-in-Chief Amanda Cook, “we are thrilled to partner with organizations like Copland House, which have a rich history of supporting living composers and music creators. As we all continue to navigate the pandemic-necessitated pivot to digital presentations together, the Cultivated Spaces series is a prime example of how to keep creating and sharing safely during this unprecedented time."

CULTIVATE is Copland House's acclaimed annual, all-scholarship emerging composers institute. “Over the course of an intensive seven days,” Bermel explained, “we cultivate ‘Three Es’: the EXPERIENCE of sculpting a composition in real time, while working closely with the Music from Copland House performers; an EXPERIMENTAL focus on deepening the imprint of one's own creative voice; and access to the EXPERTISE of mentors and industry leaders.” Embracing creativity, process, exploration, and community, CULTIVATE is an important destination on the career path of gifted young composers of all artistic and personal backgrounds and identities. With a commissioned piece at the heart of their work at CULTIVATE, six Composer Fellows share an exhilarating week of rehearsals, discussions, and other individual and collective sessions with Bermel and artists from Music from Copland House, culminating in the World Premieres of all of their new pieces.

Support for CULTIVATE 2020 and Cultivated Spaces comes the ASCAP and BMI Foundations, Alice M. Ditson Fund of Columbia University, Friends of Copland House, Jandon Foundation, and NewMusicUSA. Additional program support comes from the Aaron Copland Fund for Music, Amphion Foundation, ArtsWestchester, the National Endowment for the Arts, and New York State Council on the Arts.

CULTIVATE 2020 FELLOWS BIOS

The music of New York-based inti figgis-vizueta focuses on various notational schemata, disparate and overlaid sonic plans, and collaborative unlearning of dominant vernaculars. She often creates through the lens of personal identities, braiding a childhood of overlapping immigrant communities and Black-founded Freedom schools (in Chocolate City, DC) with Andean heritage and a deep connection to land(s). One of JACK Quartet's inaugural Studio artists, and a winner of National Sawdust’s Hildegard Competition, she has been featured in the American Composers Orchestra’s Underwood New Music Readings, and participated in the Mizzou International Composer's Festival. She loves reading poetry, particularly Danez Smith and Joy Harjo, and honors her Quechua grandmother, who was the only woman butcher on the whole “plaza central” and used to fight men with a machete.

The music of Chicago-based BALDWIN GIANG aims to empower audiences and performers, by creating concert experiences that are opportunities for collective wonder and judgment. Winner of the Fondation Maurice Ravel’s Prix Ravel and New York Youth Symphony’s First Music Prize, his works have been performed at Carnegie Hall, Chicago’s Symphony Center, Chateau de Fontainebleau, Yale in Norfolk, June in Buffalo, Spain’s Valencia International Performance Academy, Italy’s highSCORE, and France’s Concours International de Piano d’Orléans. His collaborators have included the Albany Symphony, Civic Orchestra of Chicago, International Contemporary Ensemble, orkest de ereprijs (Netherlands), JACK and Arditti Quartets, and members of Ensemble Intercontemporain and Ensemble Dal Niente.

New York-based composer-pianist WILL HEALY’s work has been heard at the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center, (le) Poisson Rouge, Apollo Theater, and New York Philharmonic Biennial, and on WNYC Radio’s New Sounds, and his 40-minute song cycle for rappers, soloists, and chamber orchestra, Cityscapes, was released on New Amsterdam Records. One of Copland House’s What’s the Score? Fellows (for an in-school commission), he has received a Charles Ives Scholarship from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, two ASCAP Morton Gould Awards, a W.K. Rose Fellowship, and a J-Fund commission. He is the artistic director of ShoutHouse, a collective of artists from diverse genres, and a pianist with a passion for both new and old music. He lives in Sunset Park, Brooklyn, where he has been exploring Chinatown and trying tons of new types of food.

Korean-born, New York-based SUNBIN KIM aims to create philosophical works that challenge preconceptions about art music, aesthetics, and the social norms within them, juxtaposing different styles, particularly those unexplored in the Western canon. His compositions have been heard at the Aspen, Tanglewood, Charlotte, Zodiac (France), and Uzmah/Upbeat (Croatia) Festivals, and been commissions by the New Juilliard Chamber Ensemble, Quartet Indigo, Iktus Percussion Ensemble, Da Capo Chamber Players, and Smash Ensemble. He has also performed his own Fantasy Concerto with Leon Botstein and the American Symphony Orchestra. He has received the Charles Ives Scholarship from American Academy of Arts and Letters, North/ South Consonance Award, and seven ASCAP Morton Gould Young Composer Awards.
SCOTT LEE writes concert works infused with the visceral sounds of popular music. He has worked with the Baltimore, North Carolina, and Portland Symphonies, JACK Quartet, Symphony in C, yMusic, Da Capo Chamber Players, Deviant Septet, ShoutHouse, and pop artist Ben Folds. Recent commissions include those from the Tanglewood and Aspen Festivals, Atlanta Symphony Youth Orchestra, loadbang, Baltimore Classical Guitar Society, and Raleigh Civic Symphony. His honors include a Charles Ives Scholarship from the American Academy of Arts and Letters and two ASCAP Morton Gould Young Composer Awards.

Believing that music has the innate power to promote cultural diversity by connecting people through universally human passions and values, SHUYING LI’s compositions have been performed by Orpheus Chamber Orchestra, Seattle and New Jersey Symphonies, American Lyric Theater, Hartford Opera Theater, Orkest de ereprijs (Netherlands), Norfolk Contemporary Ensemble, Avanti! Chamber Orchestra (Finland), IMC Arts Ensemble (Romania), Cecilia Quartet (Canada), 15.19. Ensemble (Italy), Atlas Ensemble (Netherlands), and the Argus and Donald Sinta Quartets. She also has upcoming are performances by the Shanghai Philharmonic, Moscow Contemporary Ensemble, Alarm Will Sound, Boston Modern Orchestra Project, and Aspen Contemporary Ensemble, as well as commissions for an opera for the Shanghai Conservatory of Music, and for a consortium of 20 bands.
